

U.S. MAY SEIZE FATTY'S CAR ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Carried Whiskey from Los Angeles is Charge; 40 Quarts of Booze Consumed at Arbuckle Party

WILL BRING ACTOR TO TRIAL IN THREE WEEKS, SAYS BRADY

Prisoner Deposits Cash Bail But Will Not be Released at Present

SAN FRANCISCO. — District Attorney Brady announced in the police court Friday that "the people are ready to proceed on the murder charge" against Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, who is held responsible by the authorities for the death of Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress.

The announcement came after a conference between Brady and police officials called for the purpose of deciding which of the four charges against Arbuckle would be tried. There are two murder and two manslaughter charges pending against Arbuckle. Judge Lazarus continued the case until next Thursday at 1 p. m.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—More than forty quarts of liquor were consumed in the three-day party in Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle's suite in a San Francisco hotel, which preceded the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, according to information given federal officials here Friday by Frederick Fischback, a member of the party, it was announced by Robert Cumarillo, assistant United States attorney.

Twenty bottles of whiskey, Mr. Cumarillo stated, Fischback told them were taken in Arbuckle's car from Los Angeles to San Francisco and while he was at the hotel a case of gin was taken to Arbuckle's suite by a "tall thin man" and other liquor by a "dark stranger."

The officials stated that if Fischback's declarations were substantiated, Arbuckle's automobile, said to be valued at $25,000 would be confiscated under the terms of the Volstead act.

Fatty to Spill the Beans

Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, in jail at San Francisco charged with murder, in an interview published here today declared he had ordered a reservation on a train to Los Angeles tonight and that he was going back to his home.

Arbuckle, according to the article said he intended to go back into pictures and that the case would clear up as soon as the public knew about it. He said there were a number of people at the party whose names had not been mentioned, some from Los Angeles, of considerable prominence. He said he would like to tell about it and would give the full details of the party and all the names at the trial.

This was the first statement made by Arbuckle for publication since his arrest. He said he could not understand why the newspapers printed so much about the case and anxiously inquired what public sentiment was.

Arraigned Friday

SAN FRANCISCO. — District Attorney Matthew Brady of San Francisco has announced that he will make public Friday his decision whether to try Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle for murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, or whether he will prosecute solely upon the manslaughter indictment returned by the grand jury.

Arbuckle was to be arraigned before Judge Lazarus today for preliminary examination on a charge of murder preferred by Mrs. E. B. Delmont.

Attorneys for the film star Thursday deposited $7,000 cash bail to cover the manslaughter charge and should District Attorney Brady decide to prosecute on that charge alone Arbuckle would be eligible for release. Should decision be made to prosecute for murder, however, Arbuckle would be forced to remain in jail unless his counsel could make special arrangements for him. Under California law first degree murder is not a bailable offense.

The body of Miss Rappe will be sent to Hollywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, probably late in the day.

To Guard Witnesses

Witnesses in the Arbuckle case are being watched and guarded by police to prevent their possible intimidation, in some cases at the request of witnesses themselves.

District Attorney Brady declared he was prepared to bring Arbuckle to trial in about three weeks. He expressed the belief that the defense in the case would be ready to proceed within that time also.

Arbuckle Thursday received twenty-six telegrams and 101 letters sent to him, care of the city jail. He spends his time in his cell reading his mail, telegrams and magazines, according to prison attendants. He avoids reading newspapers, they said.

MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED ON FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF WALL STREET EXPLOSION

NEW YORK.—Extraordinary vigilance was maintained by police on duty in the financial district Friday—the anniversary of the Wall street explosion of 1920 which cost forty lives and resulted in injury to more than a hundred persons and property loss of thousands of dollars. The steps taken were purely precautionary, it was explained.

With the expiration of a year, the cause of the disaster still remains a mystery. The general belief is that the explosion was that of a bomb prepared by radicals although an accident theory was advanced as well as a theory that it was an outgrowth of a building trades war.

All the public ever learned was that a dilapidated wagon loaded with a high explosive and drawn by a decrepit old horse pulled up in front of the United States assay office a few minutes before noon and the driver disappeared. At 12:01 o'clock when the skyscrapers were pouring out their noon-day thousands, the explosion let go with a roar that shook all of lower Manhattan.

SEVERAL ARE FOUND WITH TUBERCULOSIS IN THE CHEST CLINIC

Thirty-four Percent of those Examined First Day Found Affected

DUE TO EXPOSURE TO THE DISEASES IN MANY CASES

Clinic to be Open Tonight and all Day on Saturday

Out of 80 persons examined Thursday in the free chest clinic conducted here under the auspices of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, 34 per cent were found to be afflicted with tuberculosis, according to announcement made today.

The comparatively large percentage of positive cases found was attributed to the fact that a majority of those discovered to have the disease had been exposed.

Among those examined Thursday and Friday were several from West Salem, Mendota, Onalaska and Houston. One person came in from Sparta and another from Virgo to have an examination.

The clinic will be open this evening and all day tomorrow, closing Saturday night. This will be the last opportunity for a year to have a free chest examination here.

Mrs. J. A. Newcomb, Mrs. E. E. Dow, Miss Harriet Buel and Mrs. H. J. Bullock assisted in the work today, taking the histories of persons appearing for examination.

Student nurses from St. Francis hospital who assisted in the work during the day included Misses Nellie Fitzgerald, Helen Brown, Mary Corrigan and Katherine Fremont.

Good Chance Offered

"I would strongly urge persons who for any reason are concerned about their health to take advantage of the free chest clinic," said Dr. A. A. Pyle, one of the examiners. "In a number of cases Thursday persons who totally unsuspected the fact that they had contracted tuberculosis were found to have the disease, and in several other cases, persons who had feared that they were victims of the white plague were relieved to find that they were alright. Due to the early discovery of the disease, most of the tuberculous patients have every chance of getting well if they follow the proper treatment. Tuberculosis is readily curable in the early stages and the earlier the disease is discovered and treatment started, the quicker and surer the cure. All persons, who think their lungs may be infected, and especially those who have been exposed to the disease for a prolonged period, should be examined at once. The clinic offers an opportunity for competent service free of charge."

APPROVE COMPROMISE CANDIDATE FOR POST ON WORLD TRIBUNAL

Scandinavian Judge Chosen by League Council and Assembly After Deadlock

GENEVA.—By The Associated Press. —The assembly and council of the league of nations Friday approved the choice by the joint conference of the choice of the two bodies of judges, the council of the league of nations and the assembly of the league of nations.

The resolution recently proposed by Lord Robert Cecil asking the council of the league to give greater publicity to its proceedings was then adopted by the assembly.

Professor Askerzyk, Polish ambassador to Great Britain, closed the morning session with an expression of his country's sympathy with the work being done to aid famine sufferers in Russia.

STATE STARTS FIGHT TO SEIZE BIG HOTEL AT CHIPPEWA FALLS

"Glaring Example of Lottery" Says Commissioner Gilman Representing State

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis.—The state's fight to confiscate the Northern hotel here awarded to the holder of a lucky ticket at the big Elks' marriage held in Chippewa Falls, was opened in this city on Friday with Court Commissioner W. W. Gilman representing the state.

Attorney General W. J. Morgan has started suit to have the property forfeited to the state on the grounds that the statutes governing lotteries were violated.

Peter Lagman, winner of the hotel, officers of the Chippewa Falls Hotel company and trustees of the local Elks lodge are to be examined.

It is understood that two claims will be advanced by those now holding the hotel. Mr. Gilman said, one that the tickets which were sold specifically stated that they covered only the price of the dance and jubilee, and the other that the hotel has not actually been transferred as yet.

The state will contend the statute governing lottery specifically includes "all sums of money and every other valuable thing, drawn or received by any person who is an inhabitant or resident of this state at the time as a prize or share or part of a prize."

This provision is said to be so broad that it covers the case even though transfer has not been made, and even though value was received from the tickets.

A previous opinion of the attorney general has held that "in a general way, any scheme by which any kind of property is disposed of by chance, is a lottery. It does not matter that every holder of a chance may receive something of value, nor even that such holder may receive full value for what he pays. Even if that be the case, the amount he pays is a consideration for the chance and thus holds forth a lure or inducement."

Mr. Gilman said that the raffle at Chippewa Falls appeared to be a glaring example of lottery, and that the state would seem to have good grounds for its contention that the property be forfeited.

Morgan to Appear

MADISON, Wis.—Attorney General William J. Morgan will appear personally in the address examination before the court commissioner in Chippewa Falls today, to determine the facts regarding the disposal of the Northern hotel.

The action started by the state to require forfeiture of the property as a lottery, is the first of its kind under the Wisconsin statute, the attorney general said. His personal appearance will be made because of the numerous statements by club officials concerning his attitude toward the project before it was undertaken by the Elks.

AIR SERVICE CHIEF ASKS TRANSFER TO ACTIVE FIELD DUTY

WASHINGTON.—Major General C. T. Menoher, chief of the army air service, has formally asked Secretary Weeks for release from that office and transfer to command of troops in the field.

The request of General Menoher, who has been head of the air service since late in 1918, was Friday in the hands of Secretary Weeks who said that as yet he had taken no action on it. The indications were, however, that the request would be granted. General Menoher, prior to his appointment, was commander of the 42nd or Rainbow division.

MOVE TO PRESERVE MINNEHAWKA FALLS

MINNEAPOLIS.—Minnehawa Creek and the falls which were "Laughing Water" in Indian legend and historic setting of Longfellow's "Hiawatha," must be replenished from a city reservoir if they are to continue to be the natural wonder of which Minneapolis is proud, according to A. A. Crane of the Civic and Commerce Association. Mr. Crane has asked the park board to take immediate steps to assure a normal and continuous flow of water over the falls next summer. He explained that his action was prompted by the condition of the falls this year, when the volume of water was so small that Minneapolis residents were reluctant to take visitors to the spot.

CLAIMS CHURCH ACTED ALONE IN DOUBLE MURDER

Investigators Express Belief that Parks' Confession is Fake and Wilder Had No Part in the Crime

CHURCH QUIZZED BY FATHER BUT UNCOVERS NOTHING NEW

Police Seek Garage Man, Former Employer of Harvey Church

CHICAGO, Ill.—That Harvey W. Church played a lone hand in the murders of Bernard J. Daugherty, automobile salesman, and Carl Ausmus, demonstrator, was the assertion Friday of Edward A. Jones, assistant state's attorney.

Church at first confessed he killed the two men and disposed of their bodies, but later implicated Leon Parks, Clarence Wilder and others. Parks later made a confession. Investigators for the state's attorney now believe Parks' confession was a fake and that Wilder is not involved.

Other officials were inclined to the view that Church, Parks and an unknown "third man" were involved in the murders. A search was being made by those inclined to this theory.

Church, who has made a number of confessions and contradictory statements, was questioned by his father Thursday night but authorities said no new facts were learned.

The police announced that a search was being made for Gust Benario, proprietor of a garage where Church was formerly employed, to learn what he knows of the case. Benario, it was said, was missing.

RECALL ELECTION IN NORTH DAKOTA SET FOR OCT. 28

More than Sufficient Number of Signatures Secured on Recall Petitions

BISMARCK, N. D.—North Dakota's recall election, aimed at state officers elected with Nonpartisan league endorsement, will be held Friday, October 28, under a proclamation prepared Friday by Thomas Hall, secretary of state.

The proclamation will be mailed out to county auditors who will post formal notice of the election. Preparation of the proclamation began today immediately after a check of recall petitions showed the number of signatures obtained was from 7,000 to 8,000 in excess of legal requirements.

The petitions circulated for each official against whom the independent faction of the state aimed the proposed recall, bore signatures in the following number:

For recall of Gov. L. J. Frazier, 73,883; Attorney General William Lemke, 73,237 and John Haggen, commissioner of agriculture and labor, 73,187.

DELAY DEPORTATION OF ARMENIANS UPON ORDER OF HARDING

NEW YORK.—President Harding temporarily saved 300 Armenian immigrants from being deported to Turkey, according to Representative Isaac Siegel, who said that the president sent a wireless message to the Mayflower Thursday ordering their deportation suspended pending a conference at Washington Monday. Mr. Siegel said the president was deeply interested in the plight of the Armenians.

The problem of deportation of immigrants who have exceeded the monthly quotas under the new law, will be thrashed out at the conference, Mr. Siegel said.

CANCEL INVERNESS CONFERENCE

MORE TIME MAY BE GIVEN YOUNGSTERS IN COCCON CONTEST

Indicated that Period for Gathering Eggs of Pest on Trees May be Extended

HORTICULTURE SOCIETY TELLS HOW TO WORK IT

Says they Should be Kept in Bag With Mouth Tied

THAT the period allowed for gathering tussock-moth cocoons in the contest inaugurated by the County Horticultural society, the Chamber of Commerce and the Tribune and Leader-Press may be extended was seen on Friday in a statement issued by the first-named society, together with a number of suggestions as to how best to collect and handle the cocoons:

"How to Go After the 'Varmints'"

"Provide yourself with a stout paper bag, a used 3-pound to 6-pound grocery's bag, made of kraft paper, or a 124-pound flour bag will do. An old jack knife, table fork or piece of sharp wire, in fact any sharp implement will do, to dislodge the cocoons from their position in the bark of the trees. Some people are using a piece of wire fastened to the end of a stick or pole to reach the cocoon and egg masses in the higher locations.

"Place the egg masses in the paper bag and keep tied when not using the bag, and keep in a cool place. Paper boxes, tin tobacco boxes, etc., are not suitable for this purpose as they are apt to be left open allowing contents to spill out and get lost.

"Before delivering cocoons to the Hamilton school see that your name and address is placed distinctly on the bag. Having the cocoons in paper bags will also aid in destroying them easily at the big bonfire at the close of the contest, as the only way to destroy moths and eggs is by burning. Persons have been seen sweeping the cocoons down from the trees with brooms and trying to destroy them with their shoes on the sidewalk or on the ground. This process is not satisfactory as the eggs are very small and hard shelled and are apt to live through this ordeal and caterpillars will get in their nefarious work next spring.

Conditions of Contest

"While the best work is expected from the pupils of the schools of La Crosse, any resident or citizen of the city ranging in age from 5 to 75 years is eligible to take part in the contest.

"As the rewards now stand, the Horticultural society is offering 15 cents per quart for the first hundred persons delivering this quantity to the Hamilton school, time and manner of delivery will be stated in the next few days.

"In addition to this, the amount of $10 is offered by the Tribune and Leader-Press and citizens through the Chamber of Commerce for the largest amount of cocoons gathered as follows:

"The largest amount of cocoons, $10.

"Next two largest, $7.50 each.

"Next three largest, $5 each.

"The fullest co-operation exists between the gentlemen that are offering these prizes and the Horticultural society so that the latter prizes will be open to all contestants for the reward given by the Horticultural society.

"It will probably be necessary to defer the closing of the campaign for some time. Announcement of this will be made later."

It was announced that the moths are to be gathered from trees within the city and are not to be bought or sold.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS WIN FIGHT TO STAY AT MILWAUKEE HOME

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The old soldiers will not be moved from the Milwaukee National Soldiers' home, General George H. Wood, Dayton, Ohio, president of the board of managers of national homes for disabled soldiers, said Friday, following an early morning conference.

The original order, which required all veterans not disabled or in hospitals to be transferred to Leavenworth, Kas.; Hampton, Va.; or Danville, Ill., aroused a storm of criticism. Civic organizations, Senator I. L. Lenroot and Congressman John C. Klezka, rallied to the support of the old soldiers.

BRITISH SHIP BRINGS BODIES OF AMERICANS KILLED IN ZR-2 FALL

Dauntless Met at Sea by Flotilla of American Ships from Newport Base

MEMORIAL SERVICE TO BE HELD AT DOCK CHAPEL ON SATURDAY

Body of U. S. Commander to be Buried at Sea

NEW YORK.—The British cruiser Dauntless, bringing home the bodies of the sixteen officers and men of the American navy, who lost their lives in the ZR-2 disaster, arrived off Sandy Hook Friday, escorted by American war craft. She was expected to wait outside the harbor until afternoon and then at high tide to come to the navy dock.

The Dauntless was met far out at sea by the American flotilla which put out from the summer naval base at Newport, R. I. With an American destroyer marking the way the Dauntless, followed by the other American vessels and with the seaplanes flying overhead, passed up Ambrose Channel to the New York navy yard, past forts which thundered a salute. Ships at anchor, ferries and other harbor craft dipped their colors, while their crews manned the decks at attention.

In the yard the cruiser found awaiting it a special guard of honor made up of marines and bluejackets. Officers from the French cruiser Ville d'Ys, and the Brazilian battleship Minas Geraes, now in port, were present.

As soon as the Dauntless made fast the bodies were removed to a temporary chapel where they will rest until Saturday when full honors will be given the dead sailors.

At a near date, one of the bodies, that of Lieut. Commander Emory W. Coll, will again be taken to sea, this time on an American warship and somewhere off the coast will be crisscrossed the deep, in accordance with his wishes.

The bodies brought home include all but one of the Americans who were on the ill-fated dirigible when she was destroyed. The exception is Pigeon N. O. Walker, who escaped with his life, but now is in a British hospital.

One match calls for R. A. Gardner, Chicago, Ill.; C. Egan, Portland, Ore.; Jones, Atlanta, Ga.; and Francis Outmet, Boston, which, according to local authorities is among the greatest amateur foursomes ever arranged.

JUDGE WARNS AGAINST SMASHING OF STRAW HATS

NEW YORK.—The open season on straw hats was closed abruptly Friday by Magistrate McQuade. If his warnings have effect, New Yorkers may wear them until Christmas immune from destruction. He announced that hereafter any smashers of straw headgear would be given the extreme penalty for felonious assault or larceny and sent to the workhouse. As a warning one young man who kicked a hat around was fined $5.

An autopsy showed death resulted from the rupture of a small blood vessel in the brain. There was no fracture of the skull. No arrests have been made.

LOYD GEORGE DROPS PLANS FOR A PARLEY

Calls off Proposed Meeting Upon Receipt of De Valera Note Refusing to Drop Independence Claims

NOTE LEAVES THE WAY OPEN FOR CONTINUED DISCUSSIONS

Holds that Britain Can Make no Further Concessions; May Call Election

LONDON.—By The Associated Press. —Relations between England and Ireland Friday stood as they did before Eamon De Valera came to London on July 14 to discuss with Premier Lloyd George a possible basis for ending the Irish controversy. The Sinn Fein leader Thursday made public his note to the premier, affirming his stand that Irish republican plenipotentiaries could enter a conference only as delegates of an independent power, and Mr. Lloyd George quickly announced the cancellation of his invitation of Irish leaders to a parley at Inverness.

Prime Minister Lloyd George, from whom the next move in the Irish negotiations is looked for, was reported to be better, however, and as contemplating a return to London earlier than he had anticipated to consult his colleagues on the situation.

Britain Supports Premier

Public opinion in England, so far as it has found expression, is virtually solid in support of the premier in his contention that all the advances possible toward peace have been made by Great Britain and that the government cannot go further to meet Irish republican aspirations. There was hope that Mr. De Valera would ask his people for a new mandate and that a plebiscite in Ireland would result in favor of the acceptance of dominion home rule, but even the Irish nationalists, according to expressions from them received here from Dublin, believe now that the result would be contrary to English expectations.

Way Open for Further Talk

It is pointed out that Mr. Lloyd George's reply to Mr. De Valera left an opening for the continuation of the discussions after the cabinet had decided what should be done, but the preponderance of opinion here is that there can be no further concessions by England. The government, it is thought, may, therefore, decide upon a general election to obtain an endorsement of its policy from the public.

It was made plain by the premier that he could not meet the Sinn Fein delegates if the claim of Irish independence and sovereignty were insisted upon, but he did not close the door to further exchanges with the republicans.

Irish Committee Named

When the cabinet met on September 8 a committee was appointed to deal with any situation which might develop as a result of exchanges with Dublin. It consisted of Mr. Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, Earl Curzon, Sir Lansing Worthington-Evans and others.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—It will be recalled that it was predicted in this correspondence, several months ago that the failure of the legislature to provide revenue to meet appropriations made would inevitably result in a shortage. That such a shortage will be experienced is now predicted by State Treasurer Johnson who this week notified the governor that the depletion of the general fund during July and August points to a shortage before March. The only remedy for this is for the governor to refuse to approve capital expenditures by the board of control, the normal schools and the university, or to refuse also to approve new highway construction contracts. To do the latter involves the risk of the state failing to get its share of the federal road construction appropriation. Capital expenditures, it should be explained are those of the nature of permanent investments, such as building construction and equipment. Who is to blame for this threatened deficit? You can figure it out for yourself. The legislature passed and the governor approved appropriations amounting to several million dollars for each of the two fiscal years, in excess of what it was plausibly shown revenues had provided. The worst phase of the failure to provide funds was the hypocrisy displayed. Men who were instrumental in securing the enactment of the appropriation posed as friends of the people because they opposed any kind of a tax to meet the discrepancy. When an appropriation bill is duly passed, approved and published, the tax payers of the state are thus obliged to provide the money just as truly as if a tax for the amount were duly levied. So to pose as opposed to increasing the people's tax burdens, while authorizing the expenditure of money that must be raised in some manner is the sheerest hypocrisy.

Within a few weeks the bids for the construction of the fine new bridge which is to span the Wisconsin river at Sauk City, will be opened by the highway commission. It is probable that by the close of next season the new bridge of steel and concrete construction will be opened to traffic. An interesting thing connected with the building of the Sauk City bridge is that the former Governor Philipp and Architect A. C. Claus of Milwaukee, both of whom were born and brought up in the vicinity of Sauk City will contribute money to make the approaches to the bridge attractive. The plans proposed by the bridge engineers of the highway commission make the Sauk City bridge one of the most attractive in the state.

In the manufacture of commercial dairy products, Wisconsin is pre-eminent and ranks first in the production of cheese and condensed milk, second in butter and milk powders and eighth in ice cream. In 1920 according to figures prepared by J. A. Becker, crop statistician for the state and federal departments of agriculture, Wisconsin produced 11.4 per cent of all the butter made in the United States, 61.9 per cent of all cheese, 26.6 per cent of all condensed milk, 24 per cent of all milk powders, and 2.5 per cent of all ice cream made in the United States.

The greatest agricultural fair ever held in the state, and from the standpoint of exhibits and entertainments, the greatest exhibition of its kind in the United States, is the verdict of experienced fair men concerning the Wisconsin state fair of 1921. The attendance this year was great though it fell below that of 1920. This falling off reflected the prevailing financial depression. Thousands of industrial workers are idle, and were not able to expend the price of admission. Prof. C. P. Norgard, head of the state department of agriculture, under whose auspices the state fair is maintained, is being congratulated on the success of the enterprise as a great exposition.

Prior to the present congress, the federal government had appropriated to Wisconsin for highway construction $7,000,017.51. The state has had to duplicate this amount during the past five years. This large sum has been apportioned to the counties, one-third in proportion to assessed valuation, and one-third in proportion to highway mileage. Each county has been required to provide an amount at least equal to half its apportionment from the federal and state fund. It is thus Wisconsin has been able to carry on one of the most extensive road construction programs undertaken by the several states.

The newest political gossip floating around is to the effect that Attorney General Morgan may be a candidate for the United States senate against Senator La Follette next year; that former Governor Philipp also may be entered in the senatorial race; that all the present state officers will be candidates for re-election; that Banker Sol Levinson will again be a candidate for state treasurer; and that Merlin Huth and State Senator George Skaggs may contest the gubernatorial nomination with Blaine.

Land Without Laws or Money
A land without laws or money is the British island of Tristan da Cunha, a volcanic peak rising 8000 feet above the sea level in the middle of the ocean between Cape Horn and South Africa. The nearest inhabited land is St. Helena, to which Napoleon was banished, which is 1700 miles away. There are 119 men, women and children on the island. Once they heard nothing from the outside world for 10 years. They knew nothing of the world war until it was nearly ended.

LET NO CORN SPOIL AN HOUR

Any Corn Can Be Stopped Now, Any Moment, by a Touch

Science has solved the corn problem. One can now stop a corn ache instantly, and shortly remove the whole corn. The method is gentle, scientific, sure. A famous chemist invented it. A surgical dressing house of world-wide fame produces it. It is Blue-jay—the liquid or the plaster. A touch applies it. The pain stops at once. Soon the whole corn, however ancient, loosens and comes out.

It makes harsh treatments unnecessary. It makes paring ridiculous. It makes every corn ache a folly. Your druggist has Blue-jay. Let it end your corn—tonight.

THOUSANDS MOURN DEATH OF OSHKOSH NORMAL OFFICIAL

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Thousands of graduates and former students of the Oshkosh Normal school will mourn the death Wednesday night at a local hospital, of Lydon W. Briggs, vice president of the school and a member of its faculty and official family since 1878. As a fitting tribute, the remains of Mr. Briggs are to rest in state Saturday at the normal school and the funeral services will be held at that institution at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon.

Mr. Briggs was born in 1840 at Lancaster, N. Y., and was therefore over 81 years of age. He was graduated from the Kenosha high school and became a teacher at 18, serving as superintendent of schools of Kenosha county for two years and also being principal of schools at Racine, Green Bay and Manitowish before coming to the normal here. He was a member of what was called the "old Guard" of the normal faculty, serving under its four presidents to date. For years he was vice president of the school, acted as its treasurer, and taught civics and school management and law. He enlisted in the civil war, at Kenosha, serving three years. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

A Serious Matter

To save yourself from buying a "twelve-dollar style" in a six-dollar quality, remember that a shoe is only good if it's made good; and you don't really feel sure of worth unless you buy a good name. Therefore seek a name that stands for style with quality, and for value on which maker and merchant stake their reputations.

Dorothy Dodd shoes have been preeminently good for over twenty years; and value considered, they are better than ever today.

Borah

PRESIDENT HARDING is being criticised for not having included Senator Borah among the American delegates to the disarmament conference. Borah is the father of the disarmament resolution as a result of which the conference was called. Courtesy, and ordinary parliamentary practice, suggest his appointment. And if disarmament is sought, surely it has no more enthusiastic advocate than Borah!

When the speeches are made on this point, President Harding will have been accused of ignoring Borah because Borah will want more disarmament than the president wants, and because Borah will want open covenants more openly arrived at than the president wants. And it is quite possible that these charges will be substantially true as far as they go. As a force of open negotiations and substantial disarmament we'd like to see Borah in the conference.

But President Harding may have reasons more weighty than Borah's position on disarmament and open negotiations for omitting the senator. In this conference there must be a meeting of the minds of representatives of European nations and Japan with our own. In such a proceeding the provincialism of Borah would be a grave obstacle. He would fight, as "entangling alliances," many of the agreements upon which alone disarmament can be reached. His own motion in setting afoot the disarmament program confesses the fallacy of his notion that the United States can go on about its own business without exerting influence upon European events. As a peace-loving nation, ours must have something to say about European enterprises calculated to cause war. As a business nation, ours must have something to say about the world's international business. What good would a La Crosse policeman be were he unassociated with the police department and permitted to act only in self-defense? Where would be the La Crosse merchant who neglected to protect his own interests by participating in the group deliberations of the whole body of La Crosse merchants? Borah has turned his back upon the necessary co-operation between nations. He has taken seriously the political con game at which men like Harding winked as a republican political expedient, and from which the president is following Hughes and Hoover to safe ground as fast as grace will permit. A power for open dealing and real disarmament as separate issues, he would doubtless be a stumbling block to these very objectives because his Americanism is bounded on the west by the Rockies and on the east by the Mississippi river.

Naming members to the disarmament conference is not a matter of good manners, and President Harding can not afford to shirk affronting a politician to save the cause of international agreement. Many men start good things which they can not finish. Patrick Henry could thrill a country with rebellion, but he was useless in the making of a new state. Borah has forced the disarmament issue. It was great work, well done. But it is probable that than he few men who could be selected for the constructive work of the conference would be more damaging to its success.

The Chemist

BEFORE the war the world depended for nitrates on the guano deposits of Chile. Nitrates are necessary for explosives. Germany imported millions of tons of Chilean nitrates before the war, but by the end of a few months she had exhausted her supply and was cut off from Chile by sea. German chemists filled the breach with a new method of extracting nitrates from the air, and Germany had nitrogen in abundance for her munitions the rest of the war. There is nitrogen in inexhaustible plenty in the atmosphere, but the electric fixation processes have hitherto been too expensive to compete with Chile's ancient deposits. Germany found a cheap and practical way in the war.

The other day in New York, at the annual meeting of the American Chemical society, it was announced that this German process had been discovered. It is a big step forward. Nitrogen plays an important, a vital part, indeed, in agriculture, as a fertilizer. It is essential to explosives, to dye stuffs, and to many other chemical processes. If the new and cheaper method of fixation from the atmosphere is what is claimed for it, it means lopping off big costs of freight from Chile for all the products using nitrogen. It means self-support in war, greater freedom and power in peace.

Chemists are great civilizers. Savage man is dependent upon what he finds in nature. His culture was limited first upon what he found on the ground, in the trees or in the water. Then he learned to go underground and make use of what he found there. Now the chemists are bringing man closer to independence. They take from the air, from the earth, from the water the elements that nature combines in her slow and laborious age-long processes, and reproduce what man wants quickly, cheaply and free from impurities. They make gems, fibers, colors, minerals—substances of almost every sort. The direction of their progress is toward freedom from natural limitations. Instead of having conditions of life dictated by his environment, the chemist proposes to construct conditions to suit man's wants and imagination. Not only can he reproduce natural combinations and improve upon them—he has already constructed many things better suited to man's use than anything nature offers. Iron is nature's. Steel is the chemist's, infinitely harder, more durable and more useful. Nature gave man bone and ivory. The chemist produced celluloid, bakelite and such compositions easier to handle, available in any size, proof against acids and other destructive agents.

There are only a limited number of elements, which in combination make all the physical substances known to mankind. Most of them are found in some form or other everywhere. The chemist's great contribution is to make, from the elements found at home, the substances, or substitutes for them, which have to be brought, laboriously and expensively, from far away; or to make new substances to fill needs that nature cannot meet.

The chemist's constructive power is enormous. Unfortunately, so is his destructive power. Just as he can best nature in making things useful for comfort and progress, so he beats nature in making devilish explosives and gases for spreading death and devastation. Too bad the world cannot shut off the destructive avenue of his researches. Joseph Conrad suggested that a chemist who discovered a new method of destruction should be first liberally rewarded, as an incentive to other chemists to put forth their best efforts, and then put to death, to warn them to choose useful fields of work. Better still it would be to develop a society in which there would be no use nor demand for expeditious chemical murder. It is world anarchy and bestiality that keeps the chemist at the job of destructive invention. He is doing the best he can for us, giving us what we want or can use. It is a good best, but it would be still better if he were allowed to concentrate on constructive instead of destructive research.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

City officials today predicted that if the question of a $500 license is left to a vote of the people it will carry. When the matter comes up in the council the members will not vote for a higher license but if anyone introduces a resolution to leave it to a referendum there is no doubt that licenses will cost $500 next year.

That the consumption of beer in the Badger state is increasing and that the brewers are preparing to meet the demand is indicated by the prevailing high price of barley in La Crosse and neighboring towns. Barley is this year commanding the unprecedented figure of $1.05 per bushel. At this season last year it could be had for sixty-five cents per bushel.

Among the splendid buildings being erected at West Salem is the "Old Style" saloon. The C. Hellerman Brewing company of this city is financing the work. The building will be one story, enameled brick and the structure with an "Old Style" front. The estimated cost is $8,000.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Persons outside the city who contributed to the fund for the Losey Memorial Arch at Oak Grove cemetery have made objection to the inscription which refers to the arch being donated by citizens of La Crosse. The directors have decided that these people may have their money returned upon request but they will not alter the wording of the inscription.

The former members of the high school football team have organized a team to be known as the "All Stars" and will play their first game with the regular high school team this week. The new team will also arrange games with other clubs.

Capt. Thompson has started work on two wing dams to be built on either side of the Mississippi opposite the head of Pettibone par. The purpose in constructing the dams is to force the current into the thread of the river and in that way prevent sandbars from forming in the channel.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tomorrow a gang of twenty men will be sent to the lumber camps by the Sawyer and Austin mill.

A large new cellar is being built at the Eagle Brewery for storage purposes and when it is completed the capacity of the brewery, which is now 3,600 barrels, will be doubled.

The Catholic orphans of the city were given a picnic today in Oak Grove park. There were about one hundred and sixty in all. They were taken to the park in busses of the La Crosse Transfer Line and were packed as close as clothespins in a box. The tops of the busses were loaded down, too, and for once a bus was seen in which there was not "room for one more."

C. A. Krebaum will go to Dubuque tonight with a gang of men to begin work on the steamfitter in the new depot of the Chicago, Burlington and Northern Railway.

COMMON PEOPLE

BY R. RAY BAKER.

Mrs. John Mason ran the household. She was the center of the domestic circle, and the hedge that hid the palatial home, and her subjects were her husband, her son, Henry, and her daughter, Gloria. Not that she ruled with cruelty; far from it.

But Mrs. Mason had come of a high-up social set and she brought ideas with her. John Mason had democratic notions, but he was too busy raking in the shekels to interfere in social affairs, and he let her have her way. Gloria would grow up trained with this class consciousness and probably be a snob, because she would be taught that deference was her due from the common herd. Of course she was too young now to evidence any such tendencies, for she was not quite twelve months old, but her mother would see to it that she became cognizant of her high position in life.

Henry Mason was inclined, like his father, to be well, not exactly puerile, but you might say free of social fetters. His father always had been rich, but Henry had not considered that as clashing his blood from royal to plebeian. In fact he much preferred the red coat. But Henry believed in keeping peace, so he yielded to his stepmother's suspicions, or appeared to when about her.

One day while Gloria lay sleeping Mrs. Mason sat at a side window and watched two persons walking in the lot next door. She could see them through the hedge and she was sufficed with curiosity. The two persons were a motherly looking woman and a pretty girl, rather plainly attired.

"There are our new neighbors," observed Mrs. Mason with a toss of her head. "They appear to be inspecting our hedge. I trust it meets their approval. If it does not, of course, we shall be obliged to let it down."

"That's what your father gets for buying next to a small lot with a run-down house on it. Common people are bound to take advantage of such a situation. Your father should have purchased that place too, Henry, in order to protect us."

Henry, also looking out the window, grinned somewhat ruefully. "I guess the new neighbors won't bother us," he confessed. "Mrs. Kinden and her daughter are not dangerous."

"So you know their names?" exclaimed Mrs. Mason, with a touch of irony. "Probably you have been over to call on them."

"No, I have not," replied Henry, more truthfully. "I should be glad to do so, though. If I thought Theda would welcome me."

Mrs. Mason's eyes flashed. "Theda? Let me see, that's the girl you were so fond of before I stepped in and prevented your losing your senses, wasn't it? Seems to me she was your nurse when you had that operation. So she has followed you out here in order to make a match for herself, has she? That's the way with nurses. They weave themselves about the hearts of their patients, and the first thing you know the patient is gone. Even so, social distinctions are sometimes disregarded. It seems to me a nurse should know her place, the same as any other servant."

"This time it was Henry's eyes that flashed. "Mother," he said, with forced calmness, "you have the wrong idea. In the first place, nurses are not servants. In the second place, it was not you that caused us to break up. It was Theda. She said she never would marry me unless my family approved. When I spoke to you about it of course you disapproved, and that settled it. I'd have married her anyhow, but she would not consent, except under the conditions she mentioned. If she knew I was living here I'm sure she would not have bought that place. She has no social ambitions. I assure you. Such things are as much a matter of indifference to her as they are to me. Well, to me, I'd marry that girl now if I could get her to sanction it and welcome her into our family."

"A fine change of heart!" sniffed Mrs. Mason. "No common folks ever will come into this family if I can prevent it." And she switched off to her room, while Henry continued to gaze rather pensively at the pair on the other side of the hedge.

A few nights later the Mason household was aroused by Gloria, who was suffering convulsions. The telephone was out of order and the family car was laid up for repairs, while Mr. Mason had sold his business roadster and had not yet invested in a new one.

Mrs. Mason was helpless. She knew about as much concerning the care of children as a rabbit knows about astronomy. And convulsions are dangerous.

Gloria lay on her bed, her limbs jerking, half unconscious, while the members of the Mason household rushed frantically about accomplishing nothing.

"Do something! Do something!" shrieked the mother, nearly in hysterics. "Call in the neighbors—only do something! Call in that Kinden girl, Henry. Perhaps she'll do something for you."

Henry ran through the hedge and did as suggested. In a moment Theda appeared, having hastily dressed. "Give her some medicine!" wailed Mrs. Mason. "There's a whole cabinet full of it, but I don't know what to use!"

"No medicine," said Theda. "A mustard bath is the thing."

Accordingly a hot mustard bath was prepared and the now unconscious infant was thrust into it by Theda. Gloria was dipped repeatedly into the solution until she opened her eyes, pale and weak, but with the convulsions gone. Theda administered other treatment and the infant was put to bed to sink into a peaceful sleep.

Grateful Mrs. Mason threw aside her social reserve. Still on the verge of hysteria she clasped Theda in her arms and sobbed on the girl's shoulder.

"You saved her life," she cried repeatedly. "But for you Gloria would now be dead!"

The other members of the family were as grateful if not as demonstrative.

CITY CURRENT EVENTS

There are nice old ladies and gentlemen who take very sweetly about the needs of the heathen in Africa, and who help take up collections to buy them food, books and alarm clocks. But if one of these heathen were to move in a house down the street these same nice old ladies and gentlemen would talk about "that shiftless, dirty, good-for-nothing scamp that should be run out of the neighborhood."

It is a way we all have of paying attention to things far away and forgetting those close at home. We talk about the doings of statesmen in London, Washington, and Paris when we have better be wondering why the city is not removing the garbage can from the alley back of the house.

It is a mistake to think that the subject of current events refers only to what happens in the capitals of the world. The events that occur right in our own city are more important to us.

There is a very definite way to use your home newspaper in the study of city current events.

First, decide upon the main subjects to be watched, such as city government, streets, lights, water supply, street cars, waste disposal and the like. Different students in the class should take up different ones of these and each should bring in all clippings from the newspaper dealing with his particular subject. Then one student can make a report each week, telling what the city is doing and ought to do. In this way current events can be kept close at home and not made a far-away foreign subject.

This plan will be more interesting still if a few sight-seeing trips around the city are added. Visit the city hall, water works and other such places.

He Did Not Know

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON

It is said that ignorance of the law excuses no man. That is not quite true. There are instances where a man "willfully and maliciously" did the deed for which he is called into court. He may not have known the text of the statute, or that there was a statute, but he knew that he was doing wrong.

"He did not know it was loaded." Probably not, but he knew that he was doing a very foolish thing when he pointed the supposedly empty gun at another human being, and pulled the trigger. If he did not know enough to know that he is not a safe person to have around.

There are some things which it is our business to know.

We ought to know that it is neither safe nor right to do to another man what we should not like him to do to us.

We ought to know that in matters

Football

Substitute for Scrub Team

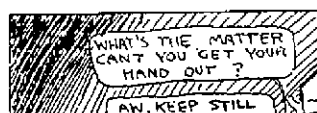

Written especially for this newspaper by PADDY DRISCOLL

Half-back, Northwestern University, 1915-16.

If your football team happens to lack a scrub squad with which to practice try this stunt that has been worked successfully by many of the teams in the same situation.

Divide the team into two groups. Make the division in such a way that as many men as possible are playing opposite positions they would play against were they up against a real scrub team. That is, arrange the lineup of each group so that the tackles are in one and the men who are to carry the ball in the other, and so on.

Write the idea, as you no doubt understand, is to give each man the same practice in his position that he would get if he were playing in an eleven-man line-up against another full team.

ONE-REEL YARNS

THE EGG WITH A BROKEN HEART

Oh, dear, I am only a glass egg and my heart is broken. My, but this is a sad world. You may not think so, but, then, you are not a glass egg. If you were you would know better.

I was once happy, too. I lived in a big box with many other glass eggs. I was the whitest and shiniest of them all.

Then, one day a little boy—I found out afterwards that it was Bobby—came to the store. From the whole box of eggs he chose me and gave the clerk a dime. I was proud and happy to think that I was the most beautiful egg, but I had only known what was in store for me!

Bobby took me home and put me in a box that had some dry grass in the bottom. I was all by myself, and it was awfully lonesome. But one day a big, fat hen came and sat on me. I was scared, for I thought she would break me, but instead, what do you think happened? She went away and left the funniest looking glass egg I ever saw. I rolled over and tried to make friends, but that was the dumbest egg I ever heard of. It wouldn't talk at all. When Bobby came out and saw that egg, he grabbed it up and ran happily toward the house. She was just as jealous. Why did he prefer that dumb egg to me?

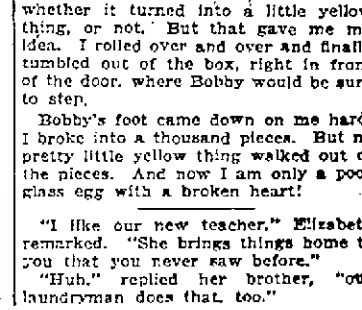

This happened almost every day, and Bobby always took the other egg. I became sadder and sadder.

One day the big, fat hen sat on me for two days. Bobby took me out and gave her lots and lots of those dumb eggs. She sat on them for a long time, till I began to be very sorry for them. But one day the most wonderful thing happened. Those eggs all broke and then they turned into the cutest, fluffiest yellow things that could run around just like the big, fat hen, only they weren't much bigger than I and left the house. I rolled over and over and finally tumbled out of the box, right in front of the door, where Bobby would be sure to step.

Bobby's foot came down on me hard. I broke into a thousand pieces. But no pretty little yellow thing walked out of the pieces. And now I am only a poor glass egg with a broken heart!

"I like our new teacher," Elizabeth remarked. "She brings things home to you that you never saw before."

"Huh," replied her brother, "our handyman does that, too."

Find What You Want in This Pile

At New Cambria near Salina, Kans., there has been for many years a great pile of junked farm machinery spread over some ground which has but little value.

This pile was the pride of John Miller, who attended ever sale in that part of the country, and bought anything in the shape of a piece of farm machinery without regard to its condition of usefulness. When any farmer within 50 miles needed a part for any of his machinery he visited John Miller's pile and looked it over until he found what he wanted and he usually bought it for about one-tenth what he would be charged at a

22 SOLDIER BONUS STUDENTS ATTENDING LA CROSSE NORMAL

Nearly Three Thousand Register for the Educational Bonus in the State

OVER FOUR HUNDRED RECEIVE TRAINING OUTSIDE THE STATE

Six Men Receiving Bonus in Foreign Countries

MADISON, Wis.—With registration figures complete for the third of the five years that the soldier education bonus is available, a decrease in totals registered this year of nearly fifty per cent is shown over the registration for the first year. Some 3,585 ex-service men and women took advantage of the education bonus of $20 a month in 1919-1920, the first year the bonus was available. The total went down to 4,460 for last year and only 2,024 have registered for this year.

Under the educational bonus act, no person shall receive a bonus after July 1, 1924. This will give two full school years after the present school year. According to the present rate of decrease in registration, it is apparent that nearly all bonus men will have graduated by the time the opportunity afforded in this state expires.

Of the 2,025 registered for this year, 924 will receive their $20 a month for attending the University of Wisconsin. Six will be at Beloit, 3 at Campion, 11 at Carroll, 10 at Lawrence, 411 at Marquette, 2 at Milwaukee, 31 at Ripon, 77 at Milwaukee School of Engineering, 42 at Stout, and 23 at the Wisconsin Mining school at Platteville.

Normal schools will have 283 men receiving the bonus. Twelve will attend at Eau Claire, 22 at La Crosse, 36 at Milwaukee, 94 at Oshkosh, 6 at Platteville, 23 at River Falls, 1 at Stevens Point, 5 for Superior, and 66 will go to Whitewater.

High schools in the state will have an even hundred of the bonus men as compared to 352 the first year of the bonus law. Vocational schools have 294 registered. Nineteen of the ex-service men are going to grade schools. This number has increased over the first year when it was eleven. County training schools get 48 men, all other schools in the state have 164 registered.

Some 448 ex-service men and women are receiving their bonus and training outside of the state. Bonus men may go to other than state schools when the training they desire is not available in the state. Two soldiers are studying at the American Ladies' and Gentlemen's Designing School at Chicago, three are studying to be osteopaths at the Kirksville college in Missouri, three are at Ann Arbor, and one is attending the famous Berea College in the hills of Kentucky.

Eighteen Wisconsin boys like Harvard, 23 prefer Illinois, one is at John Hopkins Medical College, 2 are learning the profession of the ministry at Chicago, 45 are attending the Moose School in Indiana, one is studying to be a miner in New Mexico, a former nurse is taking more training at a hospital in Boston, and 6 are at West Point Military Academy.

Six Wisconsin men are receiving their bonus in foreign countries. One is at London University, London, England; two are at Oxford, England; one ex-soldier is studying among the ruins of war-stricken Belgium at Louvain University; another is getting his education at the Tokyo University of Commerce, Japan, and a stalwart son of Norway has returned to his native land to study at Trondheim Institute.

TRAVELLED GOAT RETURNS TO HER NATIVE HAUNTS

"Marinella" the Beach-Jones goat will return to the city of her birth next Monday evening as a full fledged actor and now a regular member of the Beach-Jones cast. "Mary" has caused the management of the show no small amount of trouble due to her peculiar appetite and the things she chooses to eat. Several weeks ago while the company was in transit from Fond du Lac to Stevens Point Mary was occupying her usual dignified compartment in the baggage car when the baggage men placed his round book on top of her cage while attending to some other duties. On his return he was surprised to find that the goat had consumed the book includ-

POLICE SEEK CLUE TO MURDERER OF AKRON SALESMAN

AKRON, Ohio.—More light on the circumstances of the murder of Harry Sinclair, 40, Akron sportsman, early Thursday, is being sought by Cleveland and Akron police.

Two leads were followed Friday in an effort to run down the identity of his slayer, but little progress was reported. Sinclair was driver of a roadster of a friend, R. E. Smithers, who was also in the party with two women when, according to the story told by Smithers, a car came up from behind from which two shots were fired which struck the body of the roadster. The third shot fired as the pursuer was passing killed Sinclair. The two women in the party substantiated Smithers' story. Friends of Sinclair state that he had no enemies. He was known to the police as a gambler. His time has nearly flown.

ATTORNEYS ASK THAT MRS. OBENCHAIN BE ADMITTED TO BAIL

Demand Release of Girl to Prevent Permanent Injury to Her Health

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—A motion to admit Mrs. Madalene Obenchain to bail, pending her trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, broker, for which she was jointly indicted with Arthur C. Burch, was scheduled for argument here Friday in the Los Angeles county superior court.

Warren Williams, counsel for Mrs. Obenchain, said he would "demand" her release to prevent her health from being permanently impaired. He said the "demand" would be supported by an affidavit from Mrs. Obenchain's physician, already before the court.

Mr. Williams said any attempt to introduce a copyrighted story recently published in the Los Angeles Examiner relating to an alleged confession by Burch, would be fought on the ground that, even if genuine, it could not be admitted against Mrs. Obenchain because it was alleged to have been made by a co-defendant.

HUSBAND ARRESTED FOR ATTACKING HIS WIFE ON THE STREET

WAUKON, Iowa.—This city's mayor, John J. Arnold, was attracted by a woman's screams Thursday evening hastening to the scene found Gus Flint, local electrician, beating his wife. The mayor promptly stopped the scuffle and took Flint into custody and locked him up in the city jail, while his wife was taken to her rooms at the John Beebe home nearby and cared for by neighbors. Only a couple of weeks previously Flint had been in the custody of county officials following an encounter between him and Frank Lee, proprietor of the Model restaurant, where Mrs. Flint has been employed since her separation from her husband some time ago. In this scuffle a revolver is alleged to have played prominently, and at that time Flint was placed under bonds to keep the peace.

He is now charged with assault and battery with intent to commit murder and at his preliminary hearing before Justice Ericson was bound over to the grand jury. A divorce action was filed at the present term of court which will probably be disposed of before the present term adjourns. Flint's bond was fixed at $5,000, which he was unable to give and he is being detained in jail.

MORRISON SCORES NEW SHOP SYSTEM IN PACKING TRADE

"Reaction to Stone Age" is Way Plan is Characterized by Union Chief

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The new system of shop representation put into effect Thursday by four of the big packing plants was attacked in a statement issued by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

of Labor, as a "reaction to the stone age."

Secretary Morrison paid special attention to the provision of the new system which prohibits representation of employees by other than workers in the plants.

"This practically means that the right of counsel is denied to employees in reaching decisions of greatest importance in the life of the workers," said Mr. Morrison. "Besides, at times of unemployment it places a tremendous economic power in the hands of employers. Controlling the jobs of the representatives of the workers, controlling their very lives with the advantages which this control exercises upon the minds of the workers, 'employee representation' is a tragic farce."

FISKE O'HARA IS STILL A FAVORITE IN LOCAL THEATER

Scores Big in New Songs and Pretty New Play Here for Three Days

Clean, wholesome, sprightly and entertaining, Fiske O'Hara's newest vehicle, "The Happy Cavalier" scored big at the La Crosse theater Thursday night in the first of four performances, with an audience which packed the house.

Ever popular in this city, the jolly Irish tenor singer, appeared at his best Thursday night in a romantic comedy written by Anna Nichols, sparkling with witty lines and laughable situations. His charming voice was heard to the advantage in four new songs and two old-time favorites. Repeated curtain calls after the second act brought forth an extra solo.

Mr. Fiske has splendid support in this new play which possesses a depth of human interest and depicts a pretty love story. Anne Bronaugh in the role of the spit-fire wife who would not be tamed until her husband appeared in genre, danger and her great love for him cropped out, is particularly charming. Mollie Burke fills a happy role as Mollie Burke, the other sweet heart in the play. The cast throughout is well chosen, the play is produced in smooth, finished style and the stage settings are beautiful.

Instrumental solos by members of Mr. Fiske's special orchestra between acts add an artistic finish to the production. The advance seat sales assure large houses for each of the remaining performances of "The Happy Cavalier" here.

TILDEN WINS WAY TO SEMI-FINALS IN NET TITLE TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Three Americans and one Australian tennis players will battle Friday and Saturday for the national singles championship of 1931 on the courts of the Germantown Cricket club.

In reaching the semi-final round Thursday, William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia defeated F. Gordon Lowe of England, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1; Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia eliminated his townsman, Craig Biddle, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1; J. O. Anderson of Australia won from Francis T. Hunter of New York, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1, and Willis F. Davis of San Francisco triumphed over Robert G. Kinsey also of the Golden Gate city, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1.

Davis Wins Hard Match

In every case the matches were full

ly typified by these scores. Tilden, Anderson, and Johnson won with comparative ease in straight sets. The Davis-Kinsey contest, however, was a hard, grueling struggle which left both players exhausted at the finish. So much so, in fact, that Kinsey had to receive first aid treatment before he could leave the courts.

Chief interest centered in the meeting of Tilden and the Englishman, Lowe, and there was a gallery of 10,000 present when play began. Tilden, as soon as possible, this was particularly true of Tilden, and he buried his play with a low in a manner which induced a number of errors. The joint score and stroke analysis clearly showed the champion's superiority.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 25 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up. Is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 percent air and 6 percent common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' free trial, or even to give one free to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

THE GIANT REDWOODS

Many of the giant redwood trees of the Pacific coast are more than 300 feet tall. "Old Goldilocks," which was blown down in a storm a few years ago, had a circumference of more than 100 feet at the base, and one of its limbs was eleven feet in diameter. The "Father of the Forest," now lying prone, has had its heart eaten out by fire, so that one can ride erect on horseback through the trunk for a distance of eighty-one feet. When standing it was more than 100 feet in height. The "Mother of the Forest," long ago stripped of its bark, measures (without the bark) forty-three and a half feet in girth seventy feet from the ground. It is estimated to contain 527,000 feet of sound lumber.

MILWAUKEE ROAD STARTS NEW TRAIN SERVICE, FRIDAY

Fast Mail Train Between Here and Chicago to Handle
One Passenger Coach

A new feature in connection with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train service out of La Crosse is announced by J. H. Rossbach, city passenger agent, became effective Friday morning when train No. 58, formerly straight mail train east of this city, took on one coach to run between La Crosse and Chicago.

While but one coach is authorized to be handled on the train, it is evident that the service will be of benefit to business men transacting business here during the day and desiring to reach Chicago practically the same day. The train leaves La Crosse at 4:25 in the afternoon, arriving at Chicago at 12:40 in the morning, offering the fastest service possible between the two points.

The train makes regular stops at Sparta, Tremont, New Lisbon, Mauston, Kilbourne, Portage, Columbus, Watertown Junction, Milwaukee and Chicago. No other stops were authorized. As a special service to those contemplating attendance at the Interstate fair, the Milwaukee road will run a special train from Mauston, Thursday, Sept. 22. The train will leave Mauston at 6 o'clock in the morning, arriving at 10:30. Passengers returning will leave the south side station at 7 o'clock in the evening, it was announced.

TEACHERS WORST BORROWERS
CHICAGO, Ill.—School teachers are the most persistent borrowers in Illinois, according to a report prepared by Albert L. Suite, chairman of the Illinois Industrial Licensed Lenders' association, to be prepared for the convention of the organization here next week.

Landladies, traveling salesmen, machinists, switchmen, stenographers, and nurses come next on the list, the report said. Of 70,000 loans made last year, only one undertaker was included.

LYDD GEORGE DROPS PLANS FOR A-PARLEY

Winston Spencer Churchill, Edward Short, Robert Munro, Lord Plunket, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Robert Stevenson Home. These ministers left Liverpool for various parts of Scotland and England, immediately after the luncheon meeting, and it would take several days to gather them for a conference on the present critical situation.

May Convene Parliament

The British parliament adjourned on August 19 until October 18, but Premier Lloyd George announced before adjournment that if negotiations with the Sinn Féil broke down and if the position became hopeless the speaker of the house of commons would be empowered, after consultation with the government, to summon parliament on forty-eight hours' notice.

There was no indication here that either the British government or the Sinn Féil would denounce the peace arranged two months ago and resume the guerrilla warfare that cost scores of lives and destroyed property valued at high in the millions. Warfare is the last thing either side desires, and an effort apparently will be made to prevent any overt act that will place on either the responsibility for resuming hostilities.

The Lloyd George Note

The text of Mr. Lloyd George's reply to De Valera, telegraphed Thursday night, says:
"I informed your emissaries who came to me on Tuesday that restoration of your claim to negotiate as the representative of an independent and sovereign state would make a conference between us impossible.

"They brought a letter in which you specifically confirm that claim, stating that your nation has formally declared its independence and recognizes itself as a sovereign state, and it is only, you added, 'representatives of that state and its chosen guardians that we have any authority or power to act in behalf of our people.'"

Conference Called Off

"I asked them to warn you of the very serious effect of such a paragraph and offered to regard the letter as not delivered to me in order that you might have time to reconsider it. Despite this intimation you have now published the letter in its original form. I must accordingly cancel the arrangements for the conference next week at Liverpool and must consult my colleagues on the course of action this new situation necessitates.

"I will communicate this to you as soon as possible, but as I am laid up for a few days, delay is inevitable. Meanwhile, I must make it absolutely clear that his majesty's government can not reconsider its position, which I have stated to you.

Only One Answer

"If we accepted a conference with your delegates on the formal statement of the claim which you have reaffirmed it would constitute an official recognition of the severance of Ireland from the empire and of its existence as an independent republic.

"I would, moreover, entitle you to declare as of right acknowledged by us, that in preference to association with the British empire you would pursue closer association by a treaty with some other foreign power. There is only one answer possible to such a claim as that.

Refuse Any Concession

"The great concessions which his majesty's government made to the feeling of your people in order to secure a lasting settlement deserved, in my opinion, some more generous response, but so far every advance has been made by us.

"On your part you have not come to meet us by a single step, but have merely reiterated in phrases of emphatic challenge the letter and spirit of your original claim."

Uster Not Involved

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The Associated Press—Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, commencing on the Irish peace negotiations, declared Friday his belief that the questions at issue did not affect the six northern

MILES SYVERSON'S BODY REACHES HIS HOME AT WESTBY

Youth Killed in the Argonne
Forest to be Given Full
Military Funeral

The remains of Private Miles R. Syversen, First division, Sixteenth infantry, arrived at Westby for burial Friday morning. The funeral has been announced for Sunday, September 18. The American Legion at Westby, named in his honor, Miles R. Syversen post 157, will be in charge of the funeral.

Private Syversen sacrificed his young life for his country in the Argonne Forest. He was killed in action, October 8, 1918. The government's brief telegram to the grief-stricken parents fully two months later, came like a bombshell and caused gloom in the city of his birth.

His chosen pathfinders are all veterans of the world war and they will carry him to his last resting place in the old Coon Prairie cemetery, where a beautiful soldier's monument had been erected to his memory last year.

Miles R. Syversen was born in Westby, Wisconsin, May 24, 1895. He was always fond of outdoor sports and his greatest hobby was his rifle. He was a crack shot and when the war broke out he wanted to enlist but on account of his youth his parents refused to let him enlist, but the first draft called him. Willingly he went overseas and fearlessly held his position at the front but his dislike for the enemy equalled his dislike for the country and the climate. His letters back home saying "France is always wet and cold," showed plainly what the young warrior meant, wishing himself back on American soil. His great wish has now been fulfilled.

BOY SCOUTS FACTOR IN SAVING LIFE OF LINCOLN WOMAN

Patrol the Block to Maintain Silence Requested by the Physician

LINCOLN, Neb.—A week's night and day patrolling in two hour shifts by twelve members of a local Boy Scout troop cautioning and detouring traffic and passers-by in an effort to retain absolute silence surrounding a house in one of the city's busiest districts, resulted in saving the life of Mrs. M. E. Gardner.

Declared by her physician Dr. J. M. Mayhew to be near the point of death resultant from an attack of poisoning and nervous collapse, Mrs. Gardner was given but a few days to live unless removed to a seclusion of quiet. Removal was impossible as the noise from traffic through closed doors sent Mrs. Gardner into convulsions.

An appeal was made by Dr. Mayhew to the mayor of Lincoln. The mayor referred him to the police department. Inquiry at the police department elicited the information it had no patrols to spare and could do nothing for him. The suggestion was, however, that the Boy Scouts be enlisted.

The result was that Ray Bolan, scoutmaster of Troop 31, called his squad together and laid the appeal before them. They unanimously decided to aid. The troop was organized, one boy being stationed on either side of the house to stop all passers-by and warn them of the situation. The patrol was extended to the street and was maintained in shifts of two hours.

Not until Mrs. Gardner was on her way to apparent recovery was the patrol relieved.

"Perhaps the boys of Troop 31 would have preferred to do their good deed by carrying out children from a burning building," Scoutmaster Bolan says, "but it is seldom in our daily lives that a life is saved in such melodramatic fashion."

A special recognition and medal is being urged from national headquarters of the Boy Scouts by several of Lincoln's prominent men.

HASTINGS RELEASED IN ASSAULT ACTION STARTED BY OLIVER

Court Finds no Grounds for Holding Defendant Guilty
after Hearing Testimony

Sherman Hastings, West Salem ball player charged by Charles F. Oliver with assault, was discharged in county court Friday morning by Judge Brindley, following a hearing.

According to the testimony Hastings, who rooms and boards at the home of Mrs. Douglas on the north side, went to the Oliver home when Mrs. Oliver called Mrs. Douglas on the telephone asking her to come over and assist in caring for her—that she was ill and her husband had refused to get her a drink of water.

Hastings, formerly a roomer at the Oliver home, went over to the house in place of Mrs. Douglas and was promptly ordered out of the home by Mr. Oliver. It was claimed by defendant, Hastings claimed that before he could get out, Oliver attacked him and in self defense he struck the latter, inflicting a black eye and cuts on the face.

Judge Brindley dismissed the action after hearing the testimony.

Oliver, who is defendant in a divorce action started by his wife, left the court room in search of the district attorney, vowing he would start another action.

Sailboat Built to Defend Cup
Won by Esperanto Held
Not Eligible

HALIFAX, N. S.—The Boston schooner Mayflower was debarred on Thursday as a contender for the international fishing schooner races by the trustees of the Halifax-Hemlock trophy, won last year by the Gloucester schooner Esperanto.

The trustees made known no reason for their action but it is assumed to be due to the belief that the Mayflower has not regularly engaged in fishing, but was built to defend the cup and has made only such fishing trips as would qualify her technically under the regulations for the races.

Action No Surprise
BOSTON, Mass.—The action of the trustees of the North Atlantic Fisheries trophy in barring the fishing schooner Mayflower of this port from the proposed international championship races off Halifax, N. S., reported Thursday, was no surprise to New England fishermen.

The question whether the Mayflower, with the speed and lines of a yacht, would be accepted, has been discussed up and down the coast for months. Whether the action of the trustees will be accepted as final by the American race committee will be determined at a meeting soon. Chairman Charles B. Brown said. The committee had selected the Mayflower as defender of the trophy which it now holds through the victory of the Esperanto last year. Whether it will name another defender or allow the trophy to revert to Nova Scotia by default will be considered at a meeting if the debarment of the Mayflower is accepted.

Mayflower, designed by W. Starling Burgess, previously a designer of yachts, was built at Essex this spring with funds subscribed popularly through the Mayflower associates. Mr. Burgess, Captain J. Henry Larkin, her skipper, and Fred L. Pigeon, one of those most active in the management of the vessel, have maintained that the schooner was a practical fisherman and have pointed to her record in the fisheries this year to bear out their contention.

This FALL

as always, it will depend a good deal on where you go to buy it. Some stores pay more for their merchandise than others pay for the same goods. Some are burdened with a larger overhead. Some want big profits, while others are satisfied with smaller ones. All these things are kept down to a minimum here.

THE CONTINENTAL stores are the large spot cash buyers of Good Clothes. Buying for seven large stores, which enables us to buy our goods for less money. Our percentage of overhead expenses is the smallest on record and our margin of profit is the narrowest ever known in the clothing business. That's how we can sell you a suit of clothes at nearer the actual cost to produce it than any other store.

YOU'LL DOUBTLESS see prices that are lower than ours but not of the same grade of goods. We have combatted the high price of clothing with every weapon at our command, but we will not lower our standards of quality. So if you want a Suit or Overcoat of known quality, fine tailored, good all through, here's where you can get it at the lowest possible price.

HEADS OF FAMILIES PERMITTED TO MAKE WINE FOR HOME USE

Two Hundred Gallons Yearly
May be Manufactured Upon Receipt of Permit

HARTFORD, Conn.—Among more than five thousand letters received recently seeking information as to permits for the making of "home made wines" or "non-intoxicating fruit juices" were those of at least a dozen clergymen, the internal revenue bureau here announced Thursday. The office force has been swamped with correspondence since announcement was made that heads of families may make two hundred gallons of wine yearly for home use, provided a permit be obtained.

Washington O. K.'s It
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Internal revenue bureau officials frankly acknowledged Thursday that heads of families may upon filing of notification with local revenue collectors manufacture 200 gallons of wine yearly for home use.

Treasury regulations making effective such a publication of the law were issued by Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper with the approval of Secretary McAdoo in October, 1918, and because of the general lack of public knowledge respecting the provision congress never has enacted legislation nullifying it, officials said.

The law applies specifically to exemption from payment of tax, officials pointed out, but in its application makes manufacture of wine at home possible, provided the manufacture is by the head of the family and the wine produced be not sold or otherwise removed from the place of manufacture.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

DRIVE ON INCOME TAX DELINQUENTS STARTS OCTOBER 3

Believe Half a Million in Unpaid Taxes Will be Collected in Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Plans for a special drive on delinquent income taxpayers, both personal and corporation, in Wisconsin, were being made Thursday on orders from the income tax department at Washington. The drive will start October 3 and continue until February 1. Similar drives against delinquents will, officials say, be made in every district of the United States. Besides running down income tax delinquencies, a vigorous search for tax dodgers will be made. This is said to be the first nation-wide rechecking of personal taxes.

Officials in the federal building would not estimate the additional taxes that will be collected from Milwaukee and Wisconsin but it is thought that at least $500,000 in delinquent and additional taxes will be taken in.

The seven deputies of Wisconsin district met today to formulate plans for the Wisconsin drive. J. E. Card, assistant supervisor of collectors of officers, chief of the four states in the ninth division, will be directly in charge of the work. It was in conference with field deputies several hours Thursday.

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 1702 Reed Street, Erie, Pa.
"I'd rather get a letter like that says a doctor of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man."
For years I have been selling through drug stores a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 25 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. It cures sores in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.
It stops itching in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

PLAYMATES COMPANY IN LAST TWO SHOWS AT RIVIERA THEATER

V. O. Diver's Playmates musical comedy company close their week's engagement at the Riviera on Saturday night. Their last offering today and Saturday is "Mr. New Husband." This is a clever production, arranged especially for La Crosse by Tom Meredith, leading comedian and producer of the Playmates company. A nifty song program has been arranged for Kathryn Purcell, Jules and Herman Kimball and the International Quartet. The feature picture is "A Message From Mars," starring Bert Lytell.

"A Message From Mars" was adapted from the successful stage play by Richard Gauthoney. On the screen it gains an added lustre and beauty, for here the possibilities for showing the action over a large space are increased.

The story deals with the recognition from selfishness of a wealthy young Englishman, who takes everything for granted, and puts everything in its subversive place, his fiancée included. She leaves him finally, and everything is tottering around him when a sudden conversation of soul at the sight of suffering humanity brings him to the right goal. This is due to a messenger from Mars condemned to haunt the most selfish man on earth.

Difficult Feat
"I suppose," said a lady to a conductor, "if I pay fare for my dog he will be treated the same as other passengers and be allowed to occupy a seat?"
"Of course, madam," the conductor replied politely, "he will be treated the same as other passengers and can occupy a seat, provided he does not put his feet on it."

UPPER CLASSMEN AT MADISON TO VOTE ON HAZING NEXT WEEK

MADISON, Wis.—Students of the three upper classes at the University of Wisconsin will determine the future of hazing, which has held a prominent place here in past years, at a special election Monday, September 26. It was decided by the student senate elections committee Thursday.

Vote will be taken on the question of the return of green caps for freshmen, abolished by the senate last spring, as the result of severe hazing which resulted in the personal injury of a number of first year men.

At the same time the students will determine whether or not the annual class rush, held two weeks after school opens, shall be continued, and also whether the annual pep night, held in the spring, shall be kept as a university custom.

A special vigilance committee made up of prominent athletes, who decided last spring to enforce the old traditions despite action of the student senate, will withhold its action until the result of the student vote is announced.

"Jack," she cooed, "have you ever been engaged before?"
"Why," he answered, "you don't think this is the first vacation I ever had, do you?"—Boston Transcript.

WARNS AGAINST THE TRAINING OF PASTORS AS GOSPEL SALESMEN

Chicago Man Points to Peril of Forcing Ministry Into Narrow Financial Rut

LONDON—Modern ministers are trained as mere "salesmen" instead of Christian apostles and that is one reason why the people generally have a lukewarm attitude toward religion, declared the Rev. Dr. J. S. Ladd Thomas of Chicago, in an address here before the Ecumenical Methodist Conference. The speaker said he saw "a real peril" in the effort of denominational leaders to force the ministry into a narrow and mechanical scheme whose direct aim is to produce the largest immediate revenue.

"Poorly attended churches all over the land bear witness to the people's indifference toward institutional religion," said Dr. Thomas. "Full churches are the exception rather than the rule. It is the empty church which stares us in the face and, more eloquently than words, speaks of the attitude of that large group of people who have rejected institutional religion as something unnecessary in their lives."

"They are pleasure mad; they have a morbid materialistic indifference, while their belief in the modern church as the representative of God and the Ambassador of Christ does not express itself. The real problem," the speaker indicated, "is how to vitalize the church so that she may authoritatively and convincingly persuade men of their divine inheritance and the mission of sacrificial service. Asserting that 'the average artisan lacks confidence in the church as the champion of the square deal,' he continued:

"This indifference has arisen from a misconception of God—a wrong teaching of God—a wrong teaching of the church and a wrong teaching of the Christian life. In many of the critical hours of history the church has failed to impress the world with an authoritative message, which would bring light into the dark hours on the subject of war, the relations of capital and labor and other vital questions which have been baffling the minds of men."

"Prophets and priests," Dr. Thomas said, must "challenge the people with a gospel that will restore confidence in the church, trust in Christ and service to the world. The church must not forget her social message but she must also remember that Christianity is a religion of the individual."

RIGARRDO MARTIN TO APPEAR HERE AT THE NORMAL

Well Known Artist to Open the Lecture Course at Local Institution

The music loving people of La Crosse will have an opportunity to hear one of the foremost talents of the day when Rigarrdo Martin appears on the normal school platform on October 10 in the opening number of the normal school lecture course. This artist needs no formal introduction. He has won success throughout America and abroad. He has appeared in England, Germany, Italy and many of the Latin American countries. Many of the New York critics speak of him as the "American Curuso," and he was called on more than once to take the great Italian's place.

As a concert artist, Martin has just come into his own. His long opera experience has taught him how to sing an aria in a manner to be appreciated. In his concerts he displays all the fine arts of his long and careful training. Besides being a singer, he is an excellent pianist and a composer of modern ability. He is also a master at interpretation and understands the secret of program building. His coming to La Crosse for a concert appearance assures the music lovers that they are to hear America's finest tenor and one of the best song recitalists of the day.

The concert by Misses Vera Poppe and Edna Ver Haar announced for November 1, will not occur on that date, but later in the season at a date to be announced soon. Miss Poppe is a rising young cellist who is rapidly gaining prominence in the music world and Miss Ver Haar a well known contralto.

Miss Amy Lowell, America's leading poet, an exponent of "vers libre" will lecture in the normal school auditorium on November 2. She has gained fame as an innovator in poetry being called "the most daring, the most resourceful and the most brilliant" of present-day poets.

The fourth number on the lecture course program will be Carl Akeley, animal sculptor, hunter and photographer of big game. Mr. Akeley is collector for the Field Museum of Chicago and the American Museum of Natural History at New York. He has made several trips into the interior of Africa the first one being in 1896. Besides hunting big game he has made a reputation as a photographer and sculptor of wild animals. His clay and bronze groups occupy leading places in several museums of natural history. Mr. Akeley is an interesting speaker, consequently the story of his personal experiences and his vivid pictures of wild animal life make a thrilling evening for his audiences.

IN THE SPORT MIRROR

By R. L. BANGSBERG

As the time for the opening game of the city series approaches La Crosse fannom, together with many from without the city planning attendance, are uniformly of the opinion that the attractions contested at Copeland park to determine the championship of the city will offer the greatest entertainment in the history of the game in La Crosse.

Intense interest is manifest by local fans over the championship battles which will bring the schedule of the La Crosse baseball teams to a close. The games will, in all probability, be attractions for the largest crowds in a number of years.

While there has been apparent, during the season, a marked line of division separating supporters of both clubs, a circumstance which is indeed regrettable, it is hoped that radical followers of the respective teams will confine their demonstrations within the lines of conventional decency. Police protection in the stands as well as in the outfield has been assured. Good-spirited pep and enthusiasm, eliminating remarks of personal nature, added to the enjoyment of witnessing a baseball game and will be heartily endorsed by the managements.

While a spirit of rivalry and favoritism among fans at a city series is but a natural circumstance, wholesome cheering and red-blooded sportsmanship throughout will accomplish more to the end of putting baseball "over the top" in La Crosse than any other means we could mention.

Let's make it a big "world's series", devoid of embarrassing circumstances promulgated by fans and one which will aid in realization of the demand for better baseball in La Crosse.

As a factor which may aid materially in the elimination of errors on the part of both teams contending for the championship of the city and yield more favorable conditions for a fast exhibition of ball it is suggested that the diamond at Copeland park, previous to staging of the first game of the series, be placed in first class condition.

It is needless to say that a diamond in perfect condition is conducive to better baseball and responsibility thrown upon each player during the series will not permit of any condition hindering his best efforts. Providing it doesn't rain.

Latest reports from the management of the La Crosse baseball team indicate that Achenbach, Winona hurler agreed upon as a member of the La Crosse pitching staff for the city series, will be unable to appear with the team here. Achenbach will be retained by the Winonas, with whom he has worked all season, for the remainder of the year in view of the possibility of coming to an arrangement for a city series in Winona.

BABE RUTH BREAKS OWN RECORD IN HOME RUNS FOR A SINGLE SEASON

BY DEAN SNYDER

George Herman "Babe" Ruth, Thursday socked himself into a new home run world.

His 55th homer smash broke his last year's record of 54 and puts the business of home-running on a new high level never dreamed of.

No human has ever even approached the new mark set by the super-slugger Babe.

It was his 158th home run of his seven-year major league career, another-world record.

The nearest approach to this total is held by Gavvy Cravath, formerly

Board Decides Wilson Stalled Purse Is Held

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—The New Jersey boxing commission Thursday adopted a resolution accusing Johnny Wilson of Boston, middleweight boxing champion, of failure to put forth his best efforts in his match with Bryan Downey of Cleveland in this city last Labor day. The commission voted to place Wilson's share of the purse in a depository pending final disposition of the case.

Wilson told the commission that a blow on the chin in the first round of the bout had kept him in a dazed condition for five rounds. He further declared that the crouching position assumed by Downey throughout the encounter failed to give him an opportunity to do much in-boxing.

"Charles that Wilson's seconds had warned him from the corner to be cautious were vehemently denied by Harry Myers and Harry Kelly, who branded the champion. Kelly declared he had told Wilson to try and get Downey up from his crouching position.

Chairman Doherty said after the hearing that he had been willing to let the matter drop, but the other two members of the commission insisted upon the resolution and it was finally adopted unanimously.

SPECIAL CHARTERS TAKEN AWAY FROM 43 BADGER CITIES

All are Transferred to General Charter Law, Making for Uniformity of Government

LA CROSSE AMONG OTHER CITIES TO BE AFFECTED BY THE CHANGE

Special Privileges of Individual Charters Withdrawn

MADISON, Wis. — Forty-three cities in Wisconsin operating under special legislative charters granted previous to 1871, are about to be transferred to the state general charter law, with all of their special privileges withdrawn. The office of the secretary of state announced Friday.

The last legislature enacted a revision bill, repealing all special charters, and establishing all cities, with the single exception of Milwaukee, under the general statute. This will bring uniformity to the city governments and will permit complete classification under the state laws.

When the state was organized, each individual city received its charter from the legislature. There was an effort on the part of each city to gain as many powers as possible, through influence in the legislature.

In 1871 a general charter law was adopted through amendment to the constitution, but all cities with individual charters were permitted to retain them if they chose. The present law repeals all of these special charters.

Those cities which will be affected by the change follow: Alma, Appleton, Ashland, Augusta, Baraboo, Barron, Beloit, Brookfield, Buffalo, Cedarburg, Chilton, Colby, Dodgeville, Eau Claire, Fountain City, Greenwood, Hudson, Janesville, Kaukauna, Keshish, La Crosse, Madison, Menasha, Menominee, Mondovi, Neillsville, Oconomowoc, Oshkosh, Plymouth, Portage, Port Washington, Racine, Reidsburg, Rice Lake, River Falls, Sheboygan, Shullsburg, Stoughton, Superior, Two Rivers and West De Pere.

CALLS UPON JEWS TO JOIN IN MOVEMENT FOR DISARMAMENT

RICHMOND, Va. — American rabbis are called upon in a letter made public Friday by Dr. E. N. Catich, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, to arrange a special service on or about November 11, Armistice day, at which the attention of American Jewry shall be directed to the armament conference.

Rabbis also are requested to preach on the subject of limitation of armaments on one of the holy days and have their congregations adopt resolutions demanding that the armament conference discussions "be something more than mere political parleying or diplomatic jockeying in behalf of selfish or sinister interests."

La Crosse — Fiske O'Hara. Rivoli — William DeMille production, "What Every Woman Knows"; Paramount Magazine.

Majestic — Mildred Harris in "Habit"; two acts of Orpheum vaudeville; Snub Pollard comedy, "Kill Joy".

Rivoli — O. Diver's Playmates company in "Ma's New Husband"; Best Lyell in "A Message From Mars"; comedy, "His Fiery Beat"; Rivoli orchestra.

Casino — Mary Miles Minter in "Her Winning Way" comedy, "On Account"; comedy, "His Fiery Beat"; Rivoli orchestra.

James M. Barrie's production of "What Every Woman Knows" at the Rivoli attracted interest at its opening Thursday by reason of its having been one of the truly great stage productions which Maude Adams made famous.

It proved itself delightful for the many ingredients of humor which it disclosed in text and movement. It follows the stage play closely.

The distance feature of the picture is that, although it is based on a great play, it stands up as a picture regardless of its stage fame. "What Every Woman Knows" has no twisted continuity or a remote into something "modern." Barrie in this picture is undiluted Barrie. His text is used freely and with discretion, and in not a single instance is it misapplied. It retains, therefore, a great deal of its original flavor, and that is very satisfactory.

MARY MILES MINTER — CASINO — Gaston Glass, leading man in "Her Winning Way," with Mary Miles Minter, at the Casino today though a Frenchman by birth and weddily, is a member of a Canadian tribe of Indians. While on location in Canada for the Ralph Connor series of pictures, in which he was featured, Mr. Glass had occasion to work with the tribe of which Chief Three Persons is the "big boss." The chief took such a fancy to the young man that he made him a little brother of the tribe, and in token of the bond presented him with a magnificent head-dress of genuine and eagle feathers. The young Frenchman does not wear this sumptuous insignia in "Her Winning Way" however.

"HABIT" — MAJESTIC — "Habit," which opened its engagement at the Majestic yesterday, is a photograph of unusual dramatic appeal. Mildred Harris, as Irene Fletcher, gives a finished performance. The plot of the play is that Irene's father tells her of his impending failure and begs her to stop her charge accounts.

but instead of extending sympathy she reproaches him. Later she dreams that Marshall married her and while at the wedding breakfast her father, deeply in debt, commits suicide in the next room. And that Munson induces her to visit New York and indulge her sartorial desires by means of a charge account, falsely assuring her that there will be sufficient left from her father's estate to pay the bill.

Munson invites her to a dinner and plies her with wine. Clasp her in his arms she struggles to get away and her dress is torn from her shoulders. Her husband breaks through the door and kills Munson.

Throughout the play the allegorical spirit of "Habit" is glimpsed at her show compelling her to fresh extravagances.

STATE'S SMALLEST CITY IS BUFFALO

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin's smallest full-fledged city, possessing a special legislative charter, city wards and voting precincts, but without a postoffice, has been located at Buffalo, in Buffalo county. There are 286 individuals claiming this city as their home, according to the last census, each of whom received his mail at the village of Coeltran.

Buffalo obtained its charter from the legislature of 1859, and has been running along ever since without a marked increase in population. It is now going to receive an engraved charter from the secretary of state, recording it as a city of the fourth class and with the privileges granted by a general state charter.

The office of the secretary of state discovered the city when its officers answered a request for its definite boundaries and for a statement of population in order to permit of classification.

BOY IS SPIRITED AWAY PRESUMABLY BY LAD'S MOTHER

WATKON, Ia.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hupp of this city, whose divorce case is scheduled to come up at this term of court, have been having some contention over the custody of their two small children, a boy and a girl, who have been with the father since the separation of the parents several months ago. Last Friday a lady appeared at the door of the second grade of the public school and asked to speak to the Hupp boy. The teacher permitted the boy to pass into the hall to visit with the lady, but later when the father of the boy called for him it was discovered that the child had disappeared. It is alleged that the mother came up from Farley, Iowa, in an automobile and that it was she who called the boy from his room at school and took him away with her, presumably to Farley where she is employed.
The mother and boy got off the train in Waukon Wednesday together and the district court will doubtless establish the guardianship of the child.

and dispose of the divorce action before adjournment of the present term.

EX-SERVICEMEN HELP A COMRADE

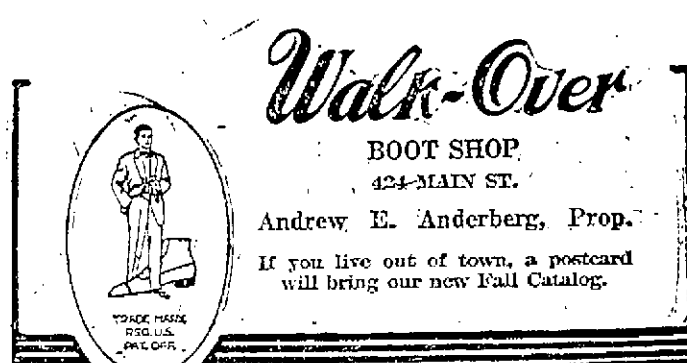

WATKON, Iowa.—About twenty members of the Ralph D. Waters post, American Legion, drove out to the farm home of their brother member, Carl Hanson, and set to work shelling a large field of corn for him. Mr. Hanson met with an accident a few weeks ago in which his collar bone was fractured and he is unable to attend to his farm work. Hence the members of the legion post grasped the opportunity to put the golden rule into practice by doing the work for him.
Judge H. E. Taylor gave his favorite prescription for booze makers—$500 and costs—to James Cahalan of near Waukon Junction when the latter appeared in district court and pleaded guilty to the charge of operating a still on his farm. Mr. Cahalan was placed under $1,000 bonds pending an appeal to the supreme court.

ROAD COMMISSION EXPLAINS SOURCE OF HIGHWAY FUNDS

Equal Parts Contributed by U. S. Government, the State and the Counties

MADISON, Wis.—Explanation of the source from which the state obtains the large sums required for highway construction and maintenance is made by the Highway Commission in a statement today. Federal government, state and counties each contribute one-third, the statement declares.

This joint Federal and State fund is apportioned to the counties on the following basis: one-third in proportion to area, one-third in proportion to assessed valuation, and one-third in proportion to highway mileage. Each county is then required to provide an amount at least half the sum apportioned it from the joint Federal and State fund.

The statement follows: "There is a rather general misunderstanding as to the source from which the state secures the large sums required for highway construction and maintenance.

"In a general way it may be said that the money used for construction comes from three sources in approximately equal amounts, one-third from the Federal Government, one-third from the State and one-third from the County.

"In the final apportionment of Federal aid granted prior to the present session of Congress, Wisconsin has received $7,000,017.51. The state in order to secure this has had to provide the same sum. This joint Federal and State fund is apportioned to the counties on the following basis: one-third in proportion to area, one-third in proportion to assessed valuation, and one-third in proportion to highway mileage. Then each county is required to provide an amount at least equal to one-half the sum apportioned it from the joint Federal and State fund.

"The state in order to meet the requirement to duplicate the Federal appropriation provided for a tax that would bring in at the first of each of three years, 1920, 1921 and 1922 the sum of $1,700,000. In addition to this the sum of $785,000 for each of the three years, and the additional sum of $100,000 per year for those years were appropriated from the general fund of the state.

"In addition to the sums named there is used in highway construction and maintenance something over $3,000,000 per year received for automobile licenses. Since the legislature in 1919 provided for a duplication of the Federal appropriations, to be used in construction, the state's share of the auto-license receipts has been devoted to road maintenance. These license receipts are disposed of as follows:

"First the actual cost of administering automobile registration is paid from the license fees received; one-fourth of the remainder is then paid to the counties in the proportion that the license fees received from each county bears to the total license fees. From the remaining three-fourths, there is first set aside a sum not to exceed $168,000 for the State Highway Commission to pay the costs of administration. The balance then is used by the State Commission for construction or maintenance, or both, of the State Trunk Highway System."
